

Sustainability at Penn State

This orientation will introduce you to the concept of sustainability and how it relates to Penn State's mission, strategic plan, and your role as an employee. All segments of the university, from academics, research, operations, outreach and student affairs, are involved in this endeavor. We will offer many examples so that you leave the one-hour session understanding ways to support the University's mission to "ensure a sustainable future" and resources available for those efforts. Please join us.

*Three duplicate sessions offered;
